

Workplace Integrated Safety and Health (WISH) Assessment

Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health Center for Work, Health, and Well-being

Assessment Introduction: This brief survey is designed to assess the extent to which organizations effectively implement integrated approaches to worker safety, health, and well-being. The term “integrated approaches” refers to policies, programs, and practices that aim to prevent work-related injuries and illnesses and enhance overall workforce health and well-being.

This survey is meant to be completed by health and safety representatives, either in human resources or in safety, at the middle management level. There are no right or wrong answers – your responses are meant to reflect your understanding of policies, practices, and programs currently implemented within your organization.

1. The following questions refer to leadership commitment. We define the term “leadership commitment” to mean: An organization’s leadership makes worker safety, health, and well-being a clear priority for the entire organization. They drive accountability and provide the necessary resources and environment to create positive working conditions.

Please indicate how often you feel your organization or its leaders do each of the following:

	Not at all	Some of the time	Most of the time	All of the time
a. The company’s leadership, such as senior leaders and middle managers, communicate their commitment to a work environment that supports employee safety, health, and wellbeing.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
